

Policies and Procedures

IMPARTIALITY POLICY

“The role of the SENDIAS Service is to ensure that all parents, children and young people have access to impartial information, advice and support so they can make informed decisions. Any information that is shared with SENDIAS is in confidence unless permission has been obtained to share this with other individuals, services and agencies that may be able to help the individual/family with their circumstances.”

The Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice (2015) states that Information, Advice and Support Services must ensure the “information, advice and support should be impartial and provided at arm’s length from the local authority and CCGs”

Impartiality

The SEND Information, Advice and Support Service (SENDIAS) believes it can best support parents, children and young people (CYP) by maintaining a neutral viewpoint that considers the individual’s and her/his parent(s) position from a standpoint that takes into account all sides.

SENDIAS will provide parents and CYP with accurate, factual information on their rights, roles, and responsibilities, based on national law and guidance. Advisers would not offer their personal opinions but will explain different options to take within a situation, outlining any possible outcomes or consequences that may occur from choosing that pathway. The information and advice provided by SENDIAS will be unbiased and will not favour one side over another because of preconceived ideas or beliefs, ensuring that all available facts, truths, opinions, and perceptions are being shared openly. By SENDIAS Advisers empowering parents and CYP, they can make informed choices for themselves.

SENDIAS will assist parents and CYP to express their views and wishes by providing them with a range of information and, if a parent is unable to do so themselves, will assist by liaising with schools and local authority personnel to empower parents and CYP without taking sides and without having a vested interest in one outcome or another.

An Adviser or volunteer will inform the Team Manager of any conflict of interest in relation to individual families, parent groups, education settings or other agencies. In this instance, the case will be reassigned to someone else.

Relationship with the Local Authority

The majority of West Sussex SENDIAS Service’s funding comes from West Sussex County Council, with an added contribution from the National Health Service. However, the service maintains an ‘arms-length’ position from the Local Authority and Clinical Commissioning Groups, as envisaged in the SEND Code of Practice \(2015\) and in the national standards for an IAS service. There is also a partnership agreement in place that ensures the minimum standards are being met by all parties. The SENDIAS Service therefore does not share information unless it is fair and lawful to do so. The SENDIAS service is based in confidential surroundings and has a dedicated telephone line for parents, children and young people.

Monitoring impartiality

SENDIAS will seek feedback from parents, children and young people who have used the service, including whether they felt the service acted in an impartial manner. This will be reported to all stakeholders and excerpts included in the SENDIAS Annual report.
